What We Buy

THURS. & SAT. 2PM-6PM

You do not need an appointment. While we buy books in a variety of subject areas, we prefer the following:

WHAT WE LOOK FOR

- Scholarly titles and university presses
- Art Books – the more specific the better
- History – especially Civil War and Pennsylvania topics
- Famous authors - books they wrote, criticism, theory
- Rare or antiquarian books – including ephemera, maps, interesting manuscripts, and prints
- Uncommon titles in interesting subject areas

WHAT WE'RE NOT LOOKING FOR

- Fiction – unless it is recent, in demand and in good condition. Otherwise most fiction titles are published in large quantities and already widely available in the used-book marketplace.
- Mass market paperbacks – these books are not generally designed to stand the test of time. Condition and appearance are very important.
- “Old books” - unless they are rare or collectible, being old does not necessarily make a book valuable. It must still be in demand and be of interest to today’s readers.
- Damaged Books – meaning those that are dirty, very worn, water damaged, or missing parts.
- College and high school textbooks – unless they are the most recent edition.
- Magazines, Encyclopedias, or DVDs.

Note:

- Unless we can sell the book for more than seven dollars, we will likely only pay $1 or less. If we can sell the book for more than $10, we will offer you a reasonable percentage of our perceived retail price. We pay by check or store credit (and will offer even more for the latter).
- We cannot give you an accurate value of a book over the phone or based on a written or oral description; we have to see the book in person.
- We only make house calls by appointment and for large and unusual collections. Please inquire by phone or email if you have any questions.
